

President's Message

Policy belongs to the people, but our people have always been isolated and victimized by populism.

For this reason, we need to evaluate policies to ensure that they are no longer an object of indifference to the people or a means of deception.

The Policy Evaluation Research Institute (PERI) will fulfill this task of the times. We will gather policy experts from Korea and around the world to properly evaluate each policy and ensure that the public is involved and centered in the pre- and post-evaluation process.

In particular, the four Policy Centers—the Tax, Finance, and Education Policy Center; the Finance, Real Estate, and Regulatory Policy Center; the Welfare, Labor, and Population Policy Center; and the Sustainable Development Policy Center—are dedicated to scientifically evaluating our economic and social policies. More than 50 research fellows, including former ministers, vice-ministers, institute heads, and presidents of academic societies, who possess the highest levels of experience and expertise in government and academia, are working with the utmost dedication.

PERI launches askPERI, an Al-based, all-in-one policy platform on March 5, 2024 askPERI offers consolidated search results and analysis of policy information scattered across various sources, including the National Assembly, the government, and public institutions. Additionally, it provides tailored information services for registered members from the government, businesses, associations, public institutions, media, and more.

As a private research institute, PERI will always stand with the people, playing a significant role for making right policies and contributing to the development of Korean society.

Thanks for your interest and support.
